CySEC broadens the cases where drawing up a prospectus in English is accepted

The summary of the prospectus should be also made available in Greek

NICOSIA, 27 December 2024 –The Cyprus Securities and Exchange Commission (CySEC) has published today a Consultation Paper on amending the accepted languages for a prospectus (CP-02-2024).

The approach proposed under CP-02-2024 aims at broadening the number of cases in which CySEC accepts a prospectus to be drawn up in English, which is a language customary in the sphere of international finance. CySEC also proposes that the summary of the prospectus be also made available in Greek.

According to the current policy of CySEC a prospectus should be typically drawn in Greek, except for certain cases where English is accepted subject to certain conditions.

CySEC's proposal to amend its approach on the accepted languages for a Prospectus, whilst requiring that the summary thereof, which contains the essential information to take an investment decision, is also made available in Greek, aims at ensuring investor protection in a proportionate manner.
