

ANNOUNCEMENT

As part of the established annual student awards for university students in Cyprus, the Cyprus Securities and Exchange Commission (CySEC) once again presented two financial prizes this year, for the total amount of €1,000.

This initiative forms part of CySEC's broader efforts to promote financial literacy, with a particular focus on young people. The awards are granted annually in memory of CySEC's first Chairman, the late Frixos Sorokkos, who laid the foundations for the establishment of the supervisory authority.

CySEC's mission is to exercise effective supervision with the aim of ensuring the protection and empowerment of investors and supporting the smooth operation and healthy development of the Cypriot capital market.

For the academic year 2024–2025, Ms. Myria Pornari, a student at the University of Limassol, and Mr. Loukas Philippou, a student at the University of Cyprus, were honoured with the award, each receiving the cash prize of €500.

The awards were presented on behalf of the Cyprus Securities and Exchange Commission (CySEC) by CySEC Officer A, Elena Karkoti, during the Graduation Ceremony held at the University of Limassol on June 26, and by CySEC Officer, Andreas Papagiannis, during the Graduation Ceremony held at the University of Cyprus on June 30.

Through this initiative, CySEC aims to encourage students' engagement with topics related to capital markets and the work of CySEC, while promoting academic research, fostering financial literacy, and disseminating relevant knowledge.
